“ Sandy and I had met 37 years ago and I could not have had a better best friend. I loved her and will miss her so, so, much. We had a lot of good times together whether it was going to a concert, going to the movies, going bowling, going on a cruise, or just going out to dinner. We loved doing the same things and that is what brought us together. Four years ago, you began this battle with cancer and I have never seen anyone have as much courage, strength, and faith as you had shown. Last year due to Covid-19, I was forced to retire from Darden Restaurants after working there for 45.5 years. I am so glad that I had to retire, because then I could be there when you needed me the most and we got to have some quality time together. I tried being there for you whenever you needed me. My only comfort is that you are not in pain nor suffering anymore. I know that God is holding you in His loving arms with the angels and that we will see each other again when it is time for me to come home too.

Today, Tomorrow, and Forever,
Love Always,
Your Friend,

“ Sandy fought so very hard to beat the cancer. She maintained a positive attitude, complied with medical appointments, treatments and doctor's orders and directons. She wanted to live to spend time with her beloved family-her sons, grandchildren and siblings. Throughout her journey she faced many roadblocks and treatments. she remained hopeful and compliant. She also continued to have love and concern for others who were experiencing difficulties. She was one of the strongest women I know and I am proud to say she was my cousin. She will be missed. I miss her. With love, Kathy

“ My sweet sweet sister, you can't even imagine how lost I am without you. We were stuck together like glue these last four years. I told you in the beginning of this journey that I would be there every step of the way. Man those were some major enduring steps we had to take. I had the easy part just going with you and being there, you on the other hand had to endure the chemo, 70 radiations, 17 months of Keytruda, the times you had to go into the hospital. But in the beginning you told me "I will fight for this". I am the proudest person in the world because despite all the crapped up appointment, the last minute time changes and dates you beat it all. I never could have done all of that, but you my dear sister did. We had our whining moments crapping at this doctor or that doctor but in the end of the crabbing we were able to flush it down the drain. You tried to hide your fear your anxiousness and the pain. You were amazing. You told me that during your times of radiation you were looking up at Jesus and he was crossing his arms and through all that pain you told me He said, Sandy you got this. You told me how great that made you feel. So we wonder why God took you and what for? You going through all this was God's way of telling me I needed to have more patience and I have acquired more. It has taught you to seek Jesus more and to learn how to lean on Jesus. In the end Sandy you DID win the battle, by being with our God. Now who's smiling? You, Bill, John, Mom and Dad are all playing poker together and laughing with no more pain or sorrow. God has ways of teaching us all lessons and he taught me how to be a better more loving person. He taught us how to love and be friends. God blessed me with an amazing strong person and I only pray that if I endure the battles you had to go through that I could be as graceful as you. You got this Sandy, I will never forget all your love you gave me. Rest in peace

“ Sweet Sandy,

I sure do miss you so so much. You have no idea how much love I have for you. You were one of my best friends. You have done so much for me all these years. Where do I even start....lets start with Alesia and how much love you gave her. You would help mom and I out so much with basketball practices and games getting her there on time. You would go to every game with us to watch my little star play. Those were some good times. You would pick her up and take her to eat and to every scary movie there was. Thank God I didn't have to go, you saved me for sure. You, mom, Alesia and Ty would sure do some awesome things together like a cruise, staying at the Nick hotel, the helicopter ride, parks and so much more. All the fun you guys all had made me so so happy. Those 2 sure did enjoy life thanks to you and mom. I could never thank you and mom enough for all you guys did for us. You are the best aunt and best friend ever. I sure miss our Sunday talks and laughs. We had some deep talks that stayed between us and some real good conversations. I miss us sharing each others church sermons with each other. I miss our movie times with the 3 amigos. I miss our good morning texts and good night texts. I miss my morning emails from you and writing you an email back everyday. I miss hearing how you are doing and hugging and kissing you. We sure were close. I miss all the special moments we had. I miss and love you so so much. I can't see you right now but one day I will again. You are with our God now and I bet you got every question you wanted answered by him. I will see you again one day but until then remember how much I love you and how much I miss you. You were such an amazing aunt and friend. You were loved by so many people so very much. You will always be in my thoughts and in my heart. I love you girl and don't you ever forget it.

*Love Always and Forever,
Your Sweet Shanna*

“ The most loyal and family oriented woman I know and love. Sandy taught me to be myself and not care what anyone else thought about me. She also taught me loyalty. Our Wednesday talks meant to much to me and I'll never forget them. She was always there for me no matter what. I love her and she is dearly missed.
